Felix Galimir Chamber Music Award

This concert showcases the winners of this year's Felix Galimir Award. In memory of chamber music legend Felix Galimir, this award was created by Scott St. John and Lorand Fenyves, with additional support from Lydia Wong, Remenyi Music and an anonymous donor. It is presented to a group or groups that show superior and enthusiastic chamber music skill. This year each player receives a $300 award plus the opportunity to be featured in performance.

Award Recipients

Born in Hamilton, Ontario, violinist Victoria Lindsay began her musical studies at the age of nine, and later went on to study with Mark Wells in Toronto. She has been the recipient of numerous awards including the Andrew Alexander Kinghorn and Nick Gelmych Violin Scholarships. Victoria has participated in the Banff Centre for the Arts Masterclass Program, the Domaine Forget Music Academy, the Southern Ontario Chamber Music Institute, and was invited to participate in the Stanford University Chamber Music Seminar, studying with the St. Lawrence String Quartet. In masterclasses she has worked with many distinguished musicians including Yehonaton Berick, Andres Cardenas, Lorand Fenyves, Mauricio Fuks, Scott St. John and Christian Tetzlaff. Ms. Lindsay has held principal and concertmaster positions with various orchestras, most recently the Toronto Symphony Youth Orchestra and the University of Toronto Chamber Orchestra. Victoria is especially dedicated to chamber music. In 1997, as a member of the Gemini String Quartet, she won first place in the National Music Festival in Saskatoon, and last year she was invited to perform with the St. Lawrence String Quartet in the University of Toronto's Faculty Artist Series. Recently she accompanied the Canadian Children's Opera Chorus on their European Tour. Tori is in her third year of a Bachelor of Music degree in performance at the University of Toronto, studying with David Zafer.

An avid chamber musician she has toured Europe twice with various ensembles, placed first in the chamber music category at the National Music Festival and was invited to attend the St. Lawrence String Quartet's seminar at Stanford University. Upon completion of her studies Nadia hopes to have a career as a chamber musician.

Born in London, Ontario, Angela Park began her piano studies at the age of three and violin studies at the age of five. She has also studied extensively at the Banff Centre for the Arts, Orford Arts Center, Aria International Summer Academy, and the International Summer Music Academy.

A consistent prize-winner at the Canadian Music Competitions in piano, violin, and piano trio categories, Angela also won the 1996 and 1999 Ontario Provincial Festivals, and the second prize at the 1999 National Music Festival in Winnipeg.

In May 2001, Angela was the winner of the International Grace Welsh Prize for Piano in Chicago and has been invited to perform six recitals in Chicago universities and communities throughout 2002 and 2003.
